There is an almost endless basis for deciding where to look, some of which is defined by your geography and resources, but the opportunity inherent in marine bioprospecting means you can almost always find a good place to look. For example, we may pick a group of organisms that is particularly rich in the chemistry we seek. Orders placed Fri-Sun will be delivered on Tuesday. Deliveries usually take working days however we will always confirm the delivery 72 hours in advance. Vores hjemmeside bruger cookies til at forbedre din oplevelse. The answer to this will depend on your aim: This knowledge is really key and links to my previous post about knowing your market. To purchase this item you must have a prescription from a doctor. In the real world we need more than the big picture to develop a proposition for a drug discovery venture that has realistic chance of success. My argument, therefore, is for a carefully thought through approach to marine natural products research and development.
