The use of a suitable support for months is advised to allow the healing of the tissues in the ideal position and to accelerate the reabsorption of the swelling. Technically known as Reduction Mammoplasty. To maximize the aesthetic result, and your well-being, we try to make these incisions in strategic places to try to make the scars less noticeable. Patients undergoing mammoplasty should remain at rest for about days, avoiding raising their arms above shoulder level for 2 weeks. As with any surgical procedure, mammoplasty involves incisions somewhere in the breast. In general, the size and type of scar are proportional to the degree of sagging present. Points are removed after approximately days and the return to physical activities is usually allowed after 1 month. Finally we advise the treatment of the scars during the first 6 months, aiming to avoid darkened, hypertrophic and keloid scars. It can be performed under general or local anesthesia and the hospitalization time may be 24 hours or as agreed with your doctor. It is surgery that seeks to reduce the glandular tissue, fat and skin of the breasts, making it more proportional to the rest of the body and frequently giving relief to discomfort due to excessive weight and consequently facilitating the way of dressing. Meanwhile, the time of the surgical act should not be confused with the time of permanence of the patient in the surgical center environment. The shape and size of the scars vary depending on the needs of the patient. Breast Reduction vsimpson T Depending on each type of breast, from two and a half hours to four hours, it can be extended a little more, in some cases. Any sport that uses the arms intensely should be avoided for 2 months. The current trend is to try to employ, as much as possible, techniques that use reduced incisions, in an attempt to provide the patient with nice-shaped breasts with smaller scars. Currently, there are several mammoplasty techniques capable of achieving excellent levels of satisfaction and results. Recovery from Breast Reduction Surgery Patients undergoing mammoplasty should remain at rest for about days, avoiding raising their arms above shoulder level for 2 weeks. Local, epidural or associated anaesthesia, at the discretion of the surgeon.
