But, as Gill says, they offer conveniences you might not find at other pharmacies: This level of price disparity is shocking enough on a one-time basis. Another piece of advice -- for those who have insurance -- is to ask if the retail price is lower than your co-payment. One theory as to why prices are higher at nationwide chain pharmacies like CVS and Walgreens compared to pharmacies that are part of a larger corporation like Costco or Wal-Mart is that the larger corporations are just using prescription drug sales to get shoppers in the door. Consumer Report's secret shoppers found that prices were lower in rural areas than in urban areas. You don't have to be a member to fill prescriptions there. The city may not be the best place to buy your medication: Most pharmacies offer discounts on 90 day refills. The secret shoppers phoned in a range of pharmacies, including Walgreens and Rite Aid , but CVS was clearly the priciest. Share buttons are a little bit lower. Montelukast. Back to Drug Directory.
