Its about companies making money off of asthma patients. Such incentives are available for medications, according to a recent report from industry consultant IMS Health. Check out the following link, because I recently wrote a similar post for healthcentral with a ton more options than Rick mentions here. If your wallet is a little thin, at least this gives you another option to try to keep that Advair in your system. Joy Buchanan, producer at MyAsthmaCentral. You must credit us as the original publisher, with a hyperlink to our khn. Hi, My name is Mark and I work for a television production company in London. As part of the documentary we would like to speak to people who, due to financial constraints, are being forced to find medication online to keep their condition under control. I had to work there on a one month long project. Here's another option for you. But I do not think there is a generic. Companies have programs to provide their brand name drugs to patients for cheap or, sometimes, free if they meet the income qualifications. However, the reason non-generic medicine costs so much is due to all the requirements to get a newer medicine approved by the FDA. Once the mandatory insurance goes into effect you can bet all aspects of medical will go up. In a similar analysis in , a marketing firm found that only 86 drugs came with coupons. So taking both alone would actually cost you more note: Merritt acknowledges this but said coupons are an inefficient way to make prescription medications more affordable for the people who need help the most. That has nothing to do with the "healthcare" agenda. Mar 14, - Advair diskus /50 has been life-changing for Mr. Superna, but as of this year, it is no longer covered by our insurance.
