It is clear that the rising popularity of the Dark Web is changing the way young people are taking drugs in this country. This is something that Simon, a student at the University of Nottingham and relatively experienced Dark Web user, agrees with. This resulted in drug dealers forming their cocaine into rock like shapes by using baking soda as a way of distilling the powder down into rock form. It is a concoction of soda water, sweets and cold medicine, and is drunk due to cold medicines high codeine content, which gives the user a woozy feeling. However it can also cause respiratory issues and heart failure. It is believed that over one million Russians are addicted to the drug. However in it was made illegal under the Misuse of Drugs Act. When you think about it from the perspective of law enforcement, they are there to get the sellers rather than buyers. The Eiffel Tower illuminated with the colours of the French national flag in tribute to the victims of 13 November Paris terror attacks. Alec Fullerton Tuesday 14 February People were doing this because it allowed for them to sell cocaine at a lower quantity and to a higher number of people. The side effects include unusual psychiatric behaviour, psychosis, panic attacks and violent behaviour, as well as the possibility of a heart attack and an elevated body temperature.
